

40 KM IN QINGHAI

9-10 July, 2016 | Xining, Qinghai, China

Incredible Xining

Xining is also called the "cool city" because it is cool in summer time. It is the only large city in Qinghai and is the capital of the province with a long history of establishment as a Chinese city. It's been a military garrison and trading centre since the 16th century. Nowadays, it's also a stopover for foreigners following the Qinghai - Tibet route, perched at an elevation of 2275M on the edge of the Tibetan plateau. The city is a convenient staging post for visitors to the ta'er monastery and Qinghai Lake.
